Swiftclean keeps Homes for Haringey legionella free

Swiftclean, the legionella control & ventilation system hygiene company, has been praised for its sterling work in carrying out the servicing and maintenance of cold water storage tanks in low rise and high rise housing blocks, as well as in the administrative buildings of Homes for Haringey – the ALMO for Haringey.

In 2006, Homes for Haringey undertook the responsibility for Haringey Council's housing stock with the support of residents, to manage over 21,000 tenanted and leasehold homes. The Council had already been using Swiftclean for over 12 years. Once the ALMO was in place, Swiftclean had to submit a new tender – and was successful in securing the contract for works covering the servicing and maintenance of cold water storage tanks.

Terence Walls, Mechanical Services Engineer at Homes for Haringey, comments: "Swiftclean are employed to carry out the servicing and maintenance of our cold water storage tanks, to prevent legionella from ever becoming a risk. Not only have they been successful in this, they also carry out ductwork cleaning, ventilation system hygiene surveys, decontamination of pigeon infested areas and cleaning in tank rooms. The service they provide is second to none, and they play a key role in keeping everything hygienic and sharing our commitment in ensuring that legionella is effectively controlled within our buildings."

An in-depth knowledge of current regulations, guidelines and best practice, together with a watching brief on impending changes and new legislation, ensures that Swiftclean's clients have the opportunity to enter into a "technical partnership" and to make use of the company's expertise as an extension of their own building services departments.

It has never been more important to comply with relevant Health & Safety legislation and Codes of Practice. Swiftclean can advise on all matters of building services, health, safety and hygiene within the workplace, ensuring that clients' premises are safe, healthy and legal.
