Strength in depth – Our personnel are setting industry standards

Our large team of experienced staff support the delivery of our services dealing with contracts management, technical sales, human resources, health and safety, administration, accounts, training, quality, recruitment, marketing, resource supplies, fleet and much more. We are flexible and able to adapt to individual client needs.

Our directors have assisted industry bodies HVCA, BSRIA, CIBSE, BAA and ABI in helping to produce various industry recognised technical standards and guidance including TR/19, FMS1, RC44 and TM26. The detailed understanding of these documents is available to our clients often as a complementary technical resource. Owing to our in-depth involvement with industry related ventilation hygiene and legionella control compliance, we also provide an Expert Witness service.

Three of our directors actively support the HVCA on the joint safety committee and within the Ventilation Hygiene Group Branch.

Our Complete Satisfaction or Your Money Back Guarantee is our reassurance to you of our confidence in delivering you a first rate service.

Total Compliance – our goal for you

All properties for which your organisation is responsible must comply with relevant Health and Safety legislation and Codes of Practice.

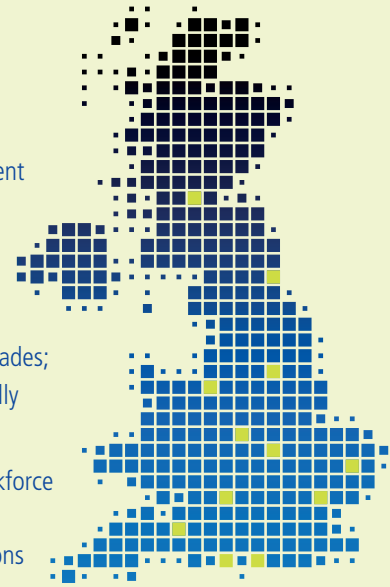

To ensure that our clients premises are compliant, safe, healthy and legal we can advise on all matters of building services health, safety and hygiene within social housing and the workplace. Our sector coverage includes health, education and leisure: in fact all public and private sector buildings.

Irrespective of the size or value of the contract, our personnel will act promptly, efficiently and courteously at all times in their endeavor to ensure that you are fully compliant.

A trusted national service

As one of the largest independent companies operating in the Building Services Hygiene sector, we offer the security of a company that has been established for nearly three decades; one which is built on a financially secure platform.

We employ our own direct workforce to carry out contracted work from strategically placed locations throughout the United Kingdom.

Constantly innovating, continually improving

We work with various universities to develop best practice and invest in research and development for service improvement. We are a pioneering and innovative organisation that leads the way within the field of water and air hygiene. A unique and individual service is provided to every one of our customers.

As an Investor in People company, all our staff are fully trained to ensure that they have the knowledge and skills to deliver a first class service.

Our in-depth knowledge and technical impact on current regulations, guidelines and best practice within the industry, together with our watching brief on impending changes and new legislation ensures that our clients have the opportunity to form a 'Technical Partnership' with us and to utilise our expertise as an extension of their own building services departments.

The environment is paramount

The surveying, cleaning, inspection and monitoring service we provide is carried out within an environmental management system whose overall aim is continual reduction in environmental impacts and continued improvement in environmental performance. Our investment in digital reporting for clients and low energy vehicles are two such examples.

To this end we foster a strong sense of responsibility for the environment amongst our employees through information and training.

If you are looking for compliance support and if you require a second-to-none service, delivered within an internationally recognised management framework, from a company trusted by thousands of organisations throughout the UK...
